

EDUCATION
ON-DEMAND

Learn at Your Pace

AEEs latest training program format allows you to view pre-recorded videos and reference the associated workbooks based on your schedule. An AEE Instructor delivers the latest information in clear and concise streaming videos you can watch easily, anytime, and anywhere. Each video has been recorded explicitly with the on-demand viewer in mind.

Six Month Access

During the six-month access period, you can stream the videos and reference the online workbooks at any time, from anywhere you have an internet connection. You are also able to email the program instructor directly to clarify any points presented in the program.

Earn Learning Credits

Once an attendee has completed all modules, they will receive a digital certificate of completion and the earned CEU/PDH/AEE Credits.

Who Benefits?

Anyone that is focused and committed to a self-study learning format. Professionals interested in, or actively performing work related to the program topic will gain the most. But it is also useful for entry-level candidates or managers that need to understand the topic in more depth.

Get Certified Remotely

You are able to take an exam from the comfort of your own home or office while an exam proctor monitors your progress using a webcam and screen sharing technology.

Why Self-Study?

- » Learn from the experts in energy management and energy efficiency
- » Boost your knowledge and expand your skillset
- » Earn credits for re-certification or continuing education
- » Prepare for AEE certification exams
- » Learn and work based on your schedule and at your pace
- » Access the training program materials online for six months

Example Programs
